Subject: cover letter for the position of IT Systems Administrator

Dear employer,

I'm interested in Vodacom and would like to apply for the position of IT Systems Administrator.

Recently graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Business Informatics, I have been able to acquire and consolidate practical knowledge in computer programming, modeling and analysis, thanks to a quality training and a short professional experience. I've complete a CISCO CCNA training, unfortunately in I'm not certificated.

My resume will tell you all about me. I have 2 years experiences of programming with python and JavaScript. Myself, I use the Angular or React Js framework in the front-end part of my website and Django rest framework as backend part.

I have the knowledge in libraries such as: numpy, pandas, matplotlib for making data visualization with python.

I have more than once demonstrated my ability to effectively lead the mobile database and application design projects I was in charge of and to work just as effectively in a team thanks to good interpersonal skills. I also particularly appreciate the atmosphere generated by teamwork. I am part of the Google Developer Group Goma and Kigali community, whose goals are to get ahead of technology by organizing DevFest (Developer Festival) where we do project presentations, presentations of new Google Framework and hackathons. This group has allowed me to strengthen my skills in Android application development, and my final work is on an Android application for diabetic follow-up, details of which are mentioned in my resume.

In addition, I program mobile applications under Android, Python, Java and I master the SQL programming language and the MySQL server database management system.

Joining One Acre fund team is a motivating prospect for me, which would also allow me to develop in a field I love and in which I would like to make a career.

Please do not hesitate to contact me for any further information or for an interview during which we could exchange my skills and get to know you better. Please accept, Sir/Madam, the expression of my sincere consideration.
